FARM POULTRY

One of Greatest Difficulties in Successfully Handling Fowls is Lack of Hardiness.

(By A. BASS, Minnesota Experiment Station.)

Lack of vitality and hardiness in the stock is one of the greatest difficulties in successfully handling turkeys. Bronze turkeys are the largest and hardest of all domestic varieties. Here are some pointers for turkey raisers:

1. Lice cause great loss in turkeys. Kill them on the hens and on the young turkeys with insect powder, applying once a week when cooped up.
2. Turkeys do best when kept separate from chickens. If the two are kept together the turkeys are likely to take chicken diseases.
3. The growth of turkeys is rapid. Give plenty of nutritious and easily digested food. For the first five days feed four quarts of bread crumbs and one part of boiled eggs. Feed one meal a day of rolled oats and give all the sour milk they will drink. Change gradually, and in three weeks feed six parts of wheat and two parts of corn, with rolled oats once a day. From the time the birds are ten weeks old until maturity give: Wheat, ten parts;

Healthy and Active Type.

whole oats, two parts, increasing to ten parts in two weeks; cracked corn, ten parts.

4. Access to fine gravel, crushed shells and broken charcoal is necessary.
5. Give plenty of green food. It prevents digestive troubles.
6. Black or red pepper and ginger in food or drinking water aids in overcoming chills and prevents bowel trouble, especially on cold, damp days. Plenty of grit and oyster shells, together with well-selected, wholesome food, eliminates this necessity in most cases.
7. If young turkeys get wet, take them to a warm room until thoroughly warm and dry.
8. The more exercise the better. Always give free range in dry weather if possible.
9. Dampness, lice and filth are deadly foes to young turkeys.

TIME TO SELL THE BROILERS

Surplus Cockerels of Quickly Maturing Breeds May Be Marketed to Good Advantage.

(By A. C. SMITH, Minnesota Experiment Station.)

Surplus cockerels, particularly those of the lighter and more quickly maturing breeds, may be marketed now to advantage. Poultry raisers, particularly those not largely engaged in the occupation, market their surplus cockerels sooner or later. All realize that cockerels of the lighter breeds become a nuisance very early in life and for that reason it is very desirable to get rid of such at the broiler age. This is comparatively easy to do, as broilers are used at all seasons in the larger cities. So active, in fact, is the demand for chicks under two pounds that often a price of at least two cents a pound above other quotations is offered for them.

While chicks of the broiler size are always salable, it must be borne in mind that they will not always bring the same prices, and that the present is the time of high prices, which—at the top about July 1—drop soon afterwards, and with accelerated rapidity at the season advances.

BEST FEED FOR YOUNG BIRDS

Ducklings and Goslings Should Be Given Mash or Mixed Crumbly, but Not Too Wet.

Don't try to raise ducklings and goslings on dry feed, but give them mash or mixed crumbly, but not wet. A good mash for those more than a week old is one part cornmeal and two parts wheat bran, mixed with milk or water and containing a little grit and a little finely granulated charcoal.

Colds

should be "nipped in the bud," for if allowed to run unchecked, serious results may follow. Numerous cases of consumption, pneumonia, and other fatal diseases, can be traced back to a cold. At the first sign of a cold, protect yourself by thoroughly cleansing your system with a few doses of the old reliable, vegetable purgative. Mr. Chas. A. Ragland, 6 Madison Heights, Va., says: "I have been using Thedford's Black-Draught for stomach troubles, indigestion and colic and find it to be the very best medicine ever used. It makes an old man feel like a young one." Insist on Thedford's, the original and genuine. E-67

Silent Success.

The man who does what can't be done, and does it without any talking, is the chap who rides in his new model car while the talker just goes on walking. How many times have you fallen? Who cares! The world doesn't give the half of a rap.—Its only concern is the fellow who dares. To get up and start in, all over, old chap!

Germans Thrown Back.

Petrograd, Oct. 4.—German troops in the region of Lake Narox, on the northern end of the Russian line, launched a gas attack lasting two hours yesterday, and in the intervals between the gas waves dense columns of Teuton troops advanced against the Russian position, says the Russian official statement issued today. The attacking forces, the statement adds, were driven back each time.

What Does Catarrh Mean?

It means inflammation of a mucous membrane somewhere in the head, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, urinary tract or bowels. It always means stagnant blood—the blood that is full of impurities. Left alone, it extends until it is followed by indigestion, colds, congestion or fever. It weakens the system generally and spreads its operations until systemic catarrh or an acute illness is the result.

Peruna

Is the nation's reliable remedy for this condition. It restores appetite, aids digestion, checks and removes inflammation, and thus enables the membranes through which we breathe and through which our food is absorbed, to do their work properly. Forty-four years of success, with thousands of testimonials, have established it as the home remedy—Ever-Ready-to-Take. Its record of success holds a promise for you.

Don't Forget.

Don't forget that you must reap what you sow.

Don't forget that you will pass over life's highway but once.

Don't forget to do all the good you can today, for you may be missing tomorrow.

Don't forget that the world will move on without you when you are gone, as though you had never lived.

Don't forget to give the gossip a cool reception when she enters your home.

Don't forget that there is some good in every man, and that it is your duty to give him credit for it.

Don't think you are the only pebble on the beach. There are others, perhaps that are worth far more than you.

Don't forget that in the other world you will be judged by what you really are and have to be worth to a wicked world, and not by your dollars and cents.

Don't forget to turn your face away from all you meet as you pass along, if you are hateful and scornful, for, if you don't you might cast a shadow over their lives.

Don't forget to speak to all you meet as you pass along, for you might miss speaking to a King.

Don't forget that you and the beggar are made of the same material. The only difference is the life you both live.—Princeton Leader.

Overheard in 2000 A. D.

"Now, this is the skeleton of a man who lived in the twentieth century." "Why is one arm so much longer than the other, professor?" "This is not an unusual case. You will notice that the right arm is several inches longer than the left and is due to the custom quite common in those days of clinging to a strap with the right hand while holding a newspaper in the left hand."

Invade German Colony.

Lisbon, Oct. 4.—An extensive invasion of German East Africa by Portuguese troops is reported in the official statement issued by the war office. The statement says:

After the passing of the Rovuma river our columns advanced eight miles and occupied Mbo. The left column seized Katabu, and the German barracks and then proceeded towards Nacosa. The columns on the center and right, marching toward the Miguimba depot, reached Taketo, on Rovuma bay. The enemy retreated in the direction of Sisavara, west of Lindi. The natives will accept Portuguese domination.

No Servant Problem Here.

The servant problem has not bothered Mrs. H. L. Garland of Opelousas, La., according to the American Magazine. She has had one servant in her family for 63 years, a negro woman who commenced her duties as servant eight years before the Civil war began. The name of this paragon, who shows that the old-time dark devotion still exists, is Mrs. Sophie Simms.
